

Fundamentals of Nature Photography

Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery Workshop Series

Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery is proud to sponsor educational workshops that help our community learn more about our incredible natural heritage. For information on other programs at the hatchery, or how you can be involved as a volunteer, please contact us!

WHAT: Join us for a beginning photography class designed for nature enthusiasts. You do not need elaborate or expensive equipment for this workshop; however, a working knowledge of your camera is required. Just bring your digital camera, a tripod (if you have one) and a love for the outdoors.

You will receive instruction about equipment and some basic photography techniques to help build your skill level. We will also cover ethics of nature photography and creating a great outdoor photograph. During a guided nature walk, you will have a hands-on opportunity to photograph nature's diverse beauty along the Cumberland River. Come capture the vibrant colors and new life of spring.

WHEN: Saturday, May 22nd, 2010
8:00am – 12noon CST

WHERE: Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery
Visitor/Environmental Education Center
